

CONFIDENTIALITY AGREEMENT

To be signed by all students - and by lecturers and/or coaches, working with student projects - at DTU Patent Course 42799 ("the Course"), January 2015.

19 November 2014

AIM

This agreement aims at protecting sensitive information against disclosure that could damage patentability of inventions by creating prior art.

Further, this agreement aims at protecting ideas and inventions against plagiarism.

Thus, the agreement aims at creating a protected environment where ideas and inventions can be discussed and developed in an open and creative setting.

NOTE

If you do not sign this agreement, and you are not bound by a professional NDA: please refrain from participating in any group work or coaching of groups in the Course, and please respect the confidentiality of proprietary information that you happen to receive.

AGREEMENT

By signing this document, the undersigned acknowledge the sensitive character of proprietary information, disclosed by students and/or lecturers at the Course. Such information is confidential and must not be used neither published without the consent of the owner(s) of the information.
